The Bernese Mountain Dog, also commonly known as the 'Berner Sennenhund, ' is a large-sized breed of dog that originates from the Swiss Alps. The breed was originally used as a mountain dog, an all-purpose farm dog and as a draft dog. The Bernese Mountain Dog is a large muscular breed of dog that has a distinctive tri-colored coat (mainly black and white with rust color marking around its eyes and chest). As a whole the Bernese Mountain Dog is known to be docile, friendly, good natured and self-assured. Like with all big dogs, the Bernese Mountain Dog needs to be properly socialized during its puppyhood. If properly socialized, a Bernese Mountain Dog can make a perfect companion for any small child and will live peacefully with other household pets. Due to the breeds working history, the Bernese Mountain Dog is a highly energetic breed that thrives in the outdoors. It is important to make sure that you properly exercise your Bernese Mountain Dog to avoid it developing any destructive behaviors due to boredom. Despite being a highly energetic breed the Bernese Mountain Dog does not have high levels of endurance, which makes exercising it very easy. Before purchasing any pet it is important to understand that as a pet owner you are responsible for the care and wellbeing of your pet. It is important to try and learn as much as you can about the animal you are considering to keep as a pet to make sure that your lifestyle, household and financial status are suited to provide your pet with the best possible care. This guide has been designed to provide you with both precise and concise information about a Bernese Mountain Dog's basic needs...
